I am new to the 6 traits, so this book is a great help. Great morning work and writing activity for traits. Days 1-3 go over a skill, with day 4 prewriting for the day 5 writing activity. Days 1-4 take 5-10 minutes each to complete with the actual writing day 5 longer. I complete a week in about 3 days. I group days 1/2 together, as well as days 3/4.

I bought this for my fifth grade homeschooled son who hates to write. The lessons are very fast, so we end up doing a week's worth of lessons in one day, and just write a paragraph using the lesson topic for the rest of the week. It's not ideal, but my son is happier that he's not sitting and writing for hours on end, and I'm happier that he's actually writing. The lessons are so quick that if you did one lesson a day, you'd be done in literally 5 minutes. That's not bad if it's what you need, but it's too quick for us.

This is a great resource for DAILY practice. While it doesn't take the place of authentic writing using the 6 traits, it does provide focused instruction and practice to assist the students comprehending each trait. I previously used the 1st grade book and when I moved to 5th grade had to have the 5th grade version.

This is a great product that several teachers at my grade level use. It covers a lot of skills over the course of the year. Each week has a trait as well as an English convention. Everything is laid out so all you have to do is follow the program. I used the book for my Writing mini--lesson each morning. I like the fact that each week it suggests a short Writing assignment for the students where they can demonstrate their understanding of that week's concepts.

Great resource for teaching writing. I love that I can get through this in 15-20 minutes per day (except Friday when they are doing their writing) so I feel like I am covering what I need without giving up my whole day.

The book features the 6-traits of writing. The concepts are spread out over the course of a week and are built upon each other. This is an excellent strategy for reinforcing concepts.
