Customer Reviews

I bought this title for a young person Im close to whom has a parent with addiction issues - I read it before I gave it to her so I knew what she was going to get from the book. It has some good info - however - if I read through it at a store I'd prob keep looking - it seemed a bit too shallow, dated and had alot of COKE & POT references - many are on to different types of addictions these days - it didnt hit on the issues this young lady is facing - but Im an adult - maybe for a teen they cant handle more than what this book offers - the subject alone is so sad - it really didnt go into the addiction issue that she is dealing with - PAIN MEDS! Her mom had/has serious back issues so fights addiction with pain meds but also has issues with drinking too. Im there for this young person and hoping the book will help her not feel so alone - it may help her to know there are others out there with simular struggles. I'd do just about anything to help her and her mom!!

For Teenagers Living With A Parent Who Abuses Alcohol/Drugs by Edith Lynn Hornik-Beer is a very straightforward book written especially for young people, and offering direct answers to basic questions such as "What causes alcoholism?"; "What do I do about the abuse?"; "Where can I get help?"; and "Should I stay at home?". With information about Alateen and other helpful programs, sound and critical insights, and a down-to-earth style of narration that candidly presents much-needed facts and information, For Teenagers Living With a Parent Who Abuses Alcohol/Drugs deserves the highest recommendation and would be an invaluable addition to any school or community library collection.
